

Cavendish through the lens

in old postcards/photos

Cavendish through the lens

The picture postcard and the pleasures of 'keeping in touch'

Postcards allowed people to communicate the same way they talked

'My Brain feels Mushy',
'Just finished four duck eggs', 'Falling asleep from the effects', 'I'm Here (Chimp). 'Ugh! Isn't it cold!' (on another Cavendish card)

'The Mill',
Cavendish,
Suffolk.

I'm having a very nice time here but the weather is very cold. I went for a long drive in the donkey trap this afternoon. I enjoyed it very much

Cavendish through the lens

A walk through the village from Cavendish Hall to Home Farm: the Clare end to the Melford road.

Cavendish Hall with the butler in the doorway

The house was built by Thomas Halifax in around 1800. Photo from 1914

ON THE CAVENDISH ROAD.

The view from the gates of Cavendish Hall. Yew Tree house was formerly Kings Farmhouse Situated near the gatehouse of Cavendish Hall, This was once a farm cottage, but was, for some time, the Fir Trees pub and barbers' shop. It has since reverted to being a private house

Cavendish

1977b

This part of Cavendish used to be called Padbrook.
Cavendish's workhouse was once on the right-hand side

Formerly called Workhouse lane. This was sited where the hedge on the left stood in this photo.

95865

Cavendish's old workhouse

CAVENDISH.

81904.

The Red House in Stour Street in the 1950s, before it went red

Padbrook Mill, which became Paddy's Mill and then Patrick Mill until becoming Cavendish Mill

Cavendish and Cavendish End were once separated by low ground until the arrival of the 'Council' houses. The end of Cavendish is marked by Ashleigh House in the distance

Poole Street. Cavendish

118159

*On the left is Flint House, followed by 'Three Chimneys'.
On the right is Ashleigh House. Many of the houses and barns beyond have been replaced.*

Cavendish, Suffolk, No. 4

Pub. by T. Stokoe, Photo. Clare, Suffolk

'Three Chimneys'

Cavendish

81903

The thatched cottages in the foreground and the barn were lost due to a road-widening scheme despite having featured in many picture postcards

One of the Cottages that was lost in a road-widening scheme.

Cavendish

81905

Frank Hale's Butchers Shop. There was a slaughterhouse at the back and many animals spent their last hours on the Green

Cavendish

The Tudor Tea Rooms used to be a school, and later became a Restaurant called the 'Grapevine'

123679

Birds-eye view of the green from the 1920s. This was the site of an annual Fair held in the beginning of June

The old forge, The Grapevine, the White house, and Virginia House on the north side of the Green, with Green End, Jasmine house and the Greys on the west side

Cavendish

Corner of the Green 1933.

81908

Mrs Barltrop, who ran the hardware Shop at the forge.

The Reading Room & Institute c1918.
New life for Cavendish Manor

In 1498 Cavendish Manor was the home of Thomas Cavendish who married Alice Smith of Padbrook Manor, (now Cavendish End), the daughter of John Smith and Alice Brecknock. They had four children:

W J Newman's Confectioner's shop in around 1900. It is now the village shop

Cavendish Green School.

Grammar School, The Green, with Newman's shop beyond. c1908:

The Green, Cavendish

The Green, with the 'Cavendish Cinema' 123671

Looking down the High Street from the Green c 1907

High Street, c1912 the left is CANADIAN TOWNSHIP

No 25

CAVENDISH WAR

MEMORIAL UNVEILED SE-19TH-1920

Old Rectory, Cavendish

Photo taken c1903

The Rectory . 1912
No 13

CAVENDISH SUFFOLK

THE COUNTY SERIES

Greys Manor, now 'The Greys', a jetteyed sixteenth century merchant's house on an older site.

Photo c 1909 The Cemetery, Cavendish, Suffolk.

Pub. by T. Stokoe, Photo, Clare, Suffolk.

The National School, c1927. It was built on the Glebe in 1863 and enlarged twenty years later and again in 1899 to accommodate 179 pupils.

GRAYNDISH.

The School had its' own playground but used the Green for sports.

The School, Cawndish.

The School, in the thirties, sited next to the original Five Bells pub with its much-photographed Poplar tree that eventually had to be felled.

Cavendish Church.

The Five Bells pub, popular with tourists, locals and especially the bell-ringers. The photo is late thirties: The Poplar has been felled

Church Farm: early 1900s

CAVENDISH

OSBORNE * SERIES

Nether Hall.

The old cottage that used to be in Peacock's road

Cavendish Rectory.

The Church, Cavendish. 016
Photo taken c 1909

81902.

CAYENDESH

Thatchers, Cavendish

Photograph by Mrs. Wood, Cavendish W.I.

The War memorial , a grazing horse, and the edge of the green. The centre of the village c 1942

The Green, Cavendish

123672

Corner of the green c 1909, showing Chinnery's butchers shop
CAVENDISH SUFFOLK

No 22
OSBORNE SERIES

Mr Chinnery at the Butcher's shop, open for business.

Chinnery's Butchers Shop next to the George became Bolden's Garage

Outside the George in about 1928

Cavendish

95877

High Street (No 2), Cavendish.
Outside the George Hotel , early 1900s

1010

A pub outing from the George in the 1930s, including men from Poslingford

Cavendish.

95853

Cuttings Shop . Nearer the camera is Waver View, dating from before 1450 Photo from 1951

Looking down
the High Street from the waver

A Pretty Spot. High Street. Cavendish

118763

CAVENDISH SUFFOLK

Outside Carter's shop c1919

No 12
OSBORNE * SERIES

HIGH STREET, CAVENDISH.

The White horse Inn, next to the Bull Hotel c 1905

High Street, Cavendish

The white Horse pub's demolition left a diminished scene

95868

The Bull and the White Horse c 1900

CAVENISH.

784.X

CAVENDISH, SUFFOLK, N^o 8

Belle Vue Villas, Photo taken c 1913

Belle Vue Villas after becoming Prentice's Butchers Shop. Later, it became the Post Office

Recently the Post Office (formerly Prentice's butchers):

CAVENISH, SUFFOLK, NO 6

Underwood's Shoe Repair Shop c 1909

In the Lower road, the Post Office, and in the distance Mr Hales' butchers shop

The High Street c. 1907.

Cavendish, Suffolk. No. 3.

Pub. by T. Stokoe, Photo. Clare, Suffolk

High Street, Cavendish.

c1910: Mansfield's sweet shop, the Post Office and Brewster's general stores

Once the Great Western Hotel, owned by the Great Western coaching company.

The Post Office in 1910

CAVENISH POST OFFICE

F W Brown's shop in the Lower Road

Inside the Congregational Chapel showing the Organ and gallery

The bridge over the stream that ran along Water Lane from Blacklands

GARFORD IN SUFFOLK

No 24
POST CARD SERIES

The Lower Road, c1925. The thatched corner cottage was a butcher's shop, demolished for the road widening

Lower Street, Cavendish

95867

The bridge, the Congregational Chapel and the view down the lower road

The Railway Arms at the junction of the Lower road an pentlow lane, c 1900

Cavendish Village. The lower road, showing Page's Builders' Yard and the Railway Arms

Cavendish Railway Station with the crossing gates set to allow the train access across the road:
c.1912

CAVENDISH SUFFOLK

OSBOURNES

Cavendish
Signalman on the night-shift.
The war years were some of the busiest ever for the railway.

A diesel pulls a mixed train towards Glemsford some time before 1963

The last train pulls into Cavendish station. 1967

PENTLOW LANE CAVENDISH

Pentlow Lane, showing the floodwalk and, in the distance,
Cavendish

The Station forecourt taken from the old Police House opposite

The demolition of Cavendish Station 1987

The British School. The Hall was the main teaching room and the smaller room was for the infants. It is now the Memorial Hall

The manse: c. 1906

CAVENDISH

No. 2

OSBORNE * SERIES

The Melford road in the sixties

Blacklands Hall, built before 1480, Restored in 1575 and again in 1850 when it was greatly enlarged

CAVENDISH

NO 2

The avenue from Blacklands to Glemsford

Ducks Hall, previously known as Home Farm, part of the Blacklands estate

Cavendish Through The Lens: The people.

Many people around the world have ancestors who lived and worked in or around Cavendish. Like anyone, they tend to be curious about what the place looked like and about the lives they led. Resources such as postcards give us and them a vivid glimpse into their lives.

Cambridge undergraduates on an outing

'Somewhere near Cavendish'

Defending the National School

Jubilee celebration in Cavendish in 1935.

The Cavendish Players